ASK HARDING TO ATTEND ANNIVERSARY OF CITY

Fredericksburg Will Invite President to Take Part in Observance of Founding of Town.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
FREDERICKSBURG, Va., April 22.—An announcement has been made by W. J. Black, secretary of the State Beekeepers' Association, that two series of cash prizes will be given to members of the association. One series of prizes is to be given to the best beekeeper in the state, and the other to the best beekeeper in the city.

GRAPHIC TALE OF RAIDS OF WHISKY-LADEN SHIPS

owners of the liquor with arrest unless the contraband fluid was turned over to the "rescue" gang. The story unfolded, and Moore told of his part as fully as he did of the part played by his companions.

Armed With Pistols and Badges. That the men always went armed with pistols and badges and represented themselves to be officers, was the assertion of Moore. In the raid he told of this morning, an account by two cases of whisky were obtained by the raiding parties at the cost of holding it away in a launch.

An Italian ship, the name of which Moore did not remember, was the first raided by his "gang," he told the jury.

Got the information that an Italian ship was at Lambert's Point with whisky aboard, said Moore, he called Jones and told him what I knew. Then we got Graham, Seymour and Glen Agay and went to Lambert's Point. Seymour and I went on board and bargained for the liquor and, while we were on the ship, an Italian watchman came on and told us to get down.

Summed "Rescue Gang." "That worked all right. We told the man who had the whisky—it was twenty-two cases of Scotch—what time we would be back after it. We went ashore and waited for the others to come for us in a launch. They came back in an automobile and told us the launch was broken, so I got them to take me to Tanner's Creek, where I got my launch, and we arrived on the ship at 3 o'clock in the morning.

"Seymour and I went aboard and told the man we had come for the liquor. The watchman told us to get the liquor out and bring it to the back of the ship. We had about finished counting the twenty-two cases, when Seymour slipped to the side of the ship and called the 'rescue' crowd, as we called the other fellows.

"They came up with pistols and badges and told us all we were under arrest. We got the liquor and put it in the launch and brought it to Norfolk. We let the crew go."

"Knock Out" Italian Ship. Another Italian ship, docked at the Army base pier, was "knocked out" at a short time before December 5, Moore told the jury.

"I don't remember the name of this ship," said Moore, "but I remember it was an Italian named 'Joe' down to the pier to bargain for the whisky in the afternoon. At night we sent Ennis and the Italian down to get things ready. Jimmy Green, Seymour, Jones and Graham and I went down in a launch after Ennis had told us where the liquor was and that he was waiting for us.

"The crew could not speak English, but we talked with the officers and when everything was all right, the 'rescue' crowd came up with badges and guns and represented themselves as officers. Then we took the liquor off, we also took along six or eight of the crew so the others on the ship wouldn't throw anything at us. When we reached the pier they gave us about $100 to let them go. We divided the money among ourselves.

"Didn't Have Heart to Stick Him. There were about eighteen cases of Scotch and cognac in this lot," said Moore, and the Scotch was so common that I returned the money to a man who had bought two cases from me. I didn't have the heart to stick him that way.

The captain of the Dutch ship 'America' was so glad to keep his men out of jail that he gave us the money for the Scotch and cognac. We went on first and arranged for the liquor. When we got the eighteen cases of gin and cognac aboard with Ennis and Graham came aboard with badges and pistols and demanded the whisky. The steward refused to let it go, so we went and woke up the captain. We told him we were officers and that his men were selling whisky, and that we had caught 'em.

STAUNTON LAYS CLAIM TO WILSON MEMORIAL

Chamber of Commerce Urges Advantages of City for Site of Proposed University.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
STAUNTON, Va., April 22.—Staunton is the place where a memorial to Woodrow Wilson should be located, thinks the Chamber of Commerce, and with this in view this city or vicinity will be selected as the site of the proposed memorial.

Wilson was born in this city, and since he retired from the presidency many persons throughout the country have suggested a memorial to this illustrious statesman.

Recently a Wilson university was suggested as the form this memorial should take. Regardless of what plan be determined, the Chamber of Commerce, which has been selected as the site of this city selected as its site.

NORFOLK CHAMBER ASKS HARDING TO BE GUEST

[By Associated Press.]

WASHINGTON, April 22.—President Harding was invited by the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce today to come ashore there and be the guest of the city next week, when he goes to Hampton Roads to review the Atlantic Fleet. The President is understood to have indicated that his present plan would not permit him to go into Norfolk.

The President expects to leave Washington on the Mayflower early in the afternoon of April 27, to arrive at Old Point just in time for the review and to begin the voyage homeward immediately after its conclusion.

George P. Baggett, Fredericksburg, Va., April 22.—George P. Baggett died suddenly of heart failure at the home of his wife, Mrs. G. P. Baggett, in Spotsylvania County, aged 83 years. Mr. Baggett had been employed in the Pittsfield Plate and Glass Works in Chicago since 1880. He was a native of Pittsfield, Mass., and had lived in Spotsylvania for many years.

Major Charles A. Sherry, "I am not a native of this country, but I certainly do enjoy looking over the Photographs section in last Sunday's Times-Dispatch. I think it is a splendid addition."

Judge E. H. Wells: "I think the new Photographs section of last Sunday was excellent. I have always been attracted by similar sections in other papers throughout the country and I will be pleased to see it in the Times-Dispatch in the future."

Oliver J. Sands: "Quite enterprising and very helpful to people and city."

John M. Miller: "First-class. Very attractive. I think it will be one thing to have run regularly."

Fred H. Powell, President Common Council: "Glad to welcome this new addition to the city. The pictures are not only timely, but are indicative of high-class art. Congratulations."

KIND WORDS GREET PHOTOGRAVURE IN THE TIMES-DISPATCH

John Marshall High School Cadets Will Feature This Section in Tomorrow's Paper—Picture and Article of Band in Another Portion.

Richmond people have expressed their approval of the Photographs section of The Times-Dispatch in a most valuable addition and asset to the paper. I have heartily enjoyed reading it, and hope it will be continued.

Attorney-General John R. Saunders: "I am heartily in favor of the new addition to the Sunday edition. It ranks well with those published by the newspapers in the larger cities, and Richmond should be proud that it can boast such a feature."

State Dairy and Food Commissioner Thornhill: "I was much pleased and surprised when I saw the section last Sunday. It is a good innovation, and gives a metropolitan air to the paper."

Colonel John W. Williams, Clerk of the House of Delegates and Keeper of the Rolls of Virginia: "Richmond should be proud of the addition. I read it with a great deal of pleasure and I don't think there is anyone but who would have."

Commissioner of Charities and Corrections Mastin: "The picture section is one of the most enjoyable of the Sunday edition, and I thoroughly enjoyed it when I read it last Sunday."

Adjutant-General J. Lane Stern: "It is certainly fine and up-to-date. The subjects are well picked and the execution is skilfully done. I think it is a valuable addition to the paper."

John Hirschberg, State Commissioner of Labor: "It is a good and valuable addition to the paper. I am heartily in favor of the section, and I will be pleased to see it in the Times-Dispatch in the future."

Postmaster Hay T. Thornton: "I think the Photographs section is a most valuable addition and asset to the paper. I have heartily enjoyed reading it, and hope it will be continued."

The cadets of the John Marshall High School will feature the Photographs section in tomorrow's paper. The band will be featured in another portion.

PRESIDENT WILL ATTEND MOUNT VERNON UNVEILING

WASHINGTON, April 22.—President Harding today accepted an invitation to attend on May 29 the unveiling of a tablet in memory of the men of Fairfax County, Va., who gave their lives in the world war.

The tablet will be placed at the famous old Pohick Church, near Mount Vernon.

The Pohick Church was built in the days when George Washington dwelt at Mount Vernon, and he was an attendant there. President Harding will be seated during the ceremony, in the pew which was occupied by George Washington. Other Presidents who have attended services at Pohick Church are Hayes, Taft, Roosevelt and Wilson.

Director of Public Works Allen J. Saville: "It is a splendid and will do much toward advertising Richmond. The Times-Dispatch deserves commendation for its effort to give subscribers everything of an up-to-date nature."

Director of Public Utilities E. W. Trafford: "Is a high class work of art, and will be appreciated by the people."

William H. Adams, President Board of Aldermen: "A big addition to the already great newspaper. It will certainly be appreciated by the patrons of The Times-Dispatch."

Ben Pillow: "It is a fine thing, and I think it made a big hit with Richmond. It is a good thing for the city to have such a feature. The subjects are good and well selected, while the execution is most creditable."

Major Charles A. Sherry: "I am not a native of this country, but I certainly do enjoy looking over the Photographs section in last Sunday's Times-Dispatch. I think it is a splendid addition."

Judge E. H. Wells: "I think the new Photographs section of last Sunday was excellent. I have always been attracted by similar sections in other papers throughout the country and I will be pleased to see it in the Times-Dispatch in the future."

READ WHAT OTHER CITIES THINK ABOUT THE RUBIN and CHERRY SHOWS, INC.

WHY SPARTANBURG LIKES THEM. "Last fall the Rubin & Cherry Shows came to Spartanburg and remained during the week of the County Fair, giving daily exhibitions to the very great enjoyment of the crowds that came to the Fair. The people of the county were much pleased with the shows, and after the close of the season they went into winter quarters at Camp Wadsworth, and have grown up into the habits of the community and have become a part of the life of the city. The people of the county are much pleased with the shows, and after the close of the season they went into winter quarters at Camp Wadsworth, and have grown up into the habits of the community and have become a part of the life of the city.

"Naturally, a policy like that would appeal to the high moral sense of this community and immediately give standing to these people and their attractions. There was another reason why Rubin & Cherry were warmly welcomed to Spartanburg. On arriving here to go into winter quarters they made first deposits in three of the city banks, and deposited funds kept in banks in other cities for the current expenses of the shows in Spartanburg. It is said that the pay roll for the shows during the past period has been not less than $2,500. One lumber concern in Spartanburg is $2,500 in debt to the Rubin & Cherry Show, and the Lord is the Maker of them all."
